And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there,
O say does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

Veterans Home receives landscaping face lift

By SSG Jill McGough, NDNG

The North Dakota Veterans Home received a landscaping face lift, recently.

Detachment 2, 815th Engineer Company completed their two weeks of Annual Training (June 1-15) at the ND Veteran's Home in Lisbon. The Veteran's Home provided the National Guard with three large projects to complete during their two weeks of training.

The first project was on the levee on the southwest side of the Vet's Home. The levee project included the removal of tree stumps, clearing of dead tree branches and logs, cutting and filling clay to raise and widen approximately 150 feet of the levee on the Veteran's Home side of the levee.

The second project was located on the far east side of the Veteran's Home. The National Guard was tasked to reclaim the hillside located on the far end of the property. The hillside project included digging out a pit to haul dead trees and branches to, utilize the clay from the hillside as fill on the levee, fill in the dump pit, smooth the hillside and build a road to give the neighbor farmer easier access to his land.

"They rebuilt our dikes after the damage from the 2010 flood," said Mark Johnson, administrator, NDVH. "They have added clay and put that area back in shape."

The third project was the oxbow project, located on the north side of the Veteran's Home. This project also consisted of stump removal and hauling dead trees and branches out of the area. After all the trees and stumps were removed, the National Guard utilized their equipment to cut and fill areas to assist with better water flow.

"Everything looks really nice," said Johnson.

With much rain at the beginning of the annual training period, the National Guard wasn't sure if they would be able to complete all three projects. Thankfully the weather cooperated their last week and they were able to finish on time."

"It's been a great project," said Johnson. "I feel fortunate to have them. They've done an outstanding job."

BLOOM WHERE YOU ARE PLANTED

"I BLOOM WHEREVER I AM PLANTED." A quote from Norma Jameson , resident and Army Veteran of World War II.

As I was compiling the pictures for this section of the newsletter I could not help but to think of Norma's words. Norma truly has bloomed at the North Dakota Veterans Home and so have many others...

Kurt Fitzner and Velma Martin have lent their talents to the outdoor patio. As you can see in the pictures, Kurt and Velma truly enjoy gardening. Resident and staff members are so appreciative of the time and care that our resident gardeners have put into the patio areas between the B and C pods. Brennen Stotts of Lisbon put 130 man hours into the raised garden beds in hopes to become an Eagle Scout. The North Dakota Veterans Home truly appreciates you all!

Thoughts by Connie

Thank you.

Two words we often neglect to say, or we say it so automatically that we neglect to reflect on how we say it and how it is received.

I have been here for six months and have recently celebrated a birthday. Both are good times to make a written, or at least a mental list of those things and people for whom we are thankful.

I am thankful first of all for my Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. Though I have often forgotten Him, He is always there for me and for you.

I am thankful for the soldiers and sailors who committed their lives so I can enjoy a country with its many freedoms.

These days of growing older, my world grows smaller and it prompts me to reflect on how I got to this point in my life and say, "How lucky am I". Like so many others my life was not planned; it just happened.

My almost three years in the Marine Corps came in the ending months of the Korean conflict. The twenty-eight years as the wife of a career marine were often difficult ones, as we moved many times. Now as I reflect on this, I realize how fortunate I was to live in different parts of our country. We experienced the accents and traditions of people from the north to the south, and we consider ourselves richer for it. Also, after retirement I enjoyed travel as I gathered and savored those experiences to enjoy again as memories for my "rocking chair" years.

Then the day came that I agreed with my doctor that it was time to look for a place to live where I would be near people and to have help if needed.

I had done fifteen years of volunteer work in nursing homes in and around the Twin Cities. None of them were places that appealed to me.

The decision was made to move back to my home state of North Dakota. I maintain that the hardest working, kindest people on earth live in North Dakota, and I am 100% correct.

From Wahpeton I heard about the Veterans Home. I consider myself so fortunate to be here where the staff is kind, considerate, and also fun. That same attitude permeates throughout the residents so I have enjoyed the friendships of many. Naming all these people would fill more pages than a book.

As you read this, no matter if you are staff or a resident please know you are appreciated, and I thank you for enhancing my life. You know who you are. From me to you, thank you and consider yourself hugged.

Pastoral Ponderings by Pastor John Anderson

I love my veterans! I am not a veteran myself; I often wish I were so I could relate to the residents on a deeper level. I am just thankful to spend time here at the North Dakota Veterans Home. It is my honor to be in your midst. Thank you all for your service to our beautiful country! Whether you loaded ammo in battle, drove a truck or tank, steered a ship, flew a plane, filed papers, cooked meals, fixed jeeps...it does not matter. You veterans went where you were sent and did what your country asked of you. Again, thank you!

I am not a veteran, but my dad was. I am very proud of him. He served in World War II. I enjoyed the stories he told me of his time in the Army. I think he trained in hot, humid Alabama. He told me of the 20 mile hikes in the heat with a heavy pack on his back, the pushups, sit-ups, and drills. He was a sharpshooter, and I have seen his medals to prove it. I still have the little tin box containing the mementos from his Army days: razor, small tobacco pipe, documents, postcards, letters to and from home in Walcott, ND, his sergeant stripes, and of course, his medals.

After Alabama, Dad shipped off to Japan. He told me he fell asleep on a bench at the Seattle train station. He awoke covered in dark soot from the old coal train. The Army discovered my dad's mechanical gifts and put him to work as soon as he stepped onto Japanese soil. He served in the motor pool there as chief mechanic. Broken down, battle worn Jeeps would limp into the shop, and he would overhaul the motors. Then he would send them back out into service, fresh and ready for work. I am proud of the work my dad did in the Army long ago. Thank you Dad!

It reminds me of our relationship with God. Sometimes we get battle-worn in our daily lives. Stress, grief, work, loneliness, fear... all of these factors can wear us out like an old Jeep. We are invited to turn to God. We limp into worship on Sundays, or Bible study, or private prayer time, or quiet reflection...however you commune with God. And, if we are receptive to healing and love, Christ overhauls our motors, or at least gives us a tune up. We are given fresh grace, hope and strength. And, God willing, we return to our lives with renewed faith. God is like the gifted mechanic my dad was. He is always on call to overhaul us, or do a simple tune up. It is my honor to help with any tune ups needed here among you veterans (staff and family too)! I love my veterans! Have I said thank you yet? Here it is again: Thank You Veterans!!

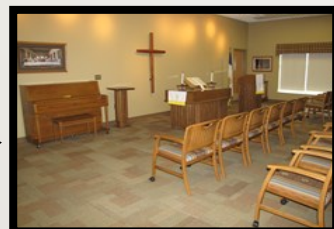

God Bless You All,

Pastor John

National Pig Day

Dairy Month

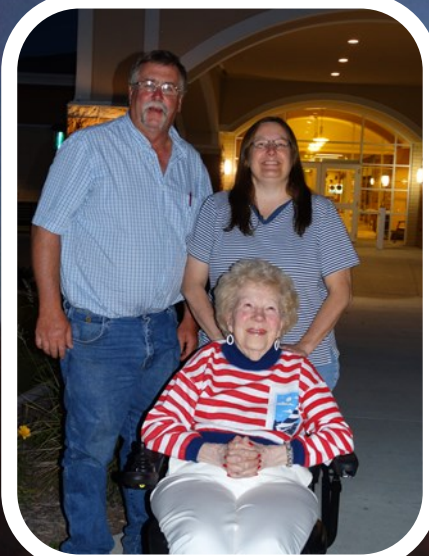

For Dairy Month, Brenda Elijah entertained us with "Udderly Fun" by bringing her collection of milk memorabilia.

The Veterans Home celebrated with a BANG on the FOURTH OF JULY thanks to pyrotechnic Kyle Moore.

Our Kulm Kids

Those of you who read our Winter 2013 issue may remember a story we wrote highlighting the Kulm First Graders. The First Grade Class of Mrs. Strobel saved all their pennies to buy the veterans new underwear. The veterans were so touched they decided to take a field trip in February to the Kulm school. Students and veterans bonded over books and technology. Each student was coined with a North Dakota Veterans Home coin. These kids will hold a special place in our hearts forever.

The residents of NDVH are read to by Mrs. Webb's 2nd grade students of Lisbon.

Now McLeod would make the Gladstone of my growing up days seem like a big metropolis, but what a place. The guy who owns the eating establishment embellishes in fun ways. Some of his tables are galvanized stock tanks turned upside down with legs put under them. Some of the chair legs are harness heins (well, that's not in my dictionary, but what I mean is the part of the harness that fits around the collar.) He has four huge scoria clinkers that are as good as any I have seen. When we are loaded back into the bus, the boss man comes aboard and thanks us for coming.

The food? Hey, have you ever had sweet potato fries? I had not, boy are they good. I had sirloin steak with my fries.

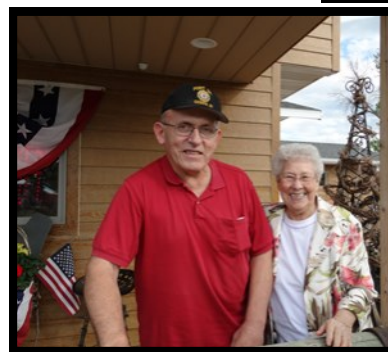

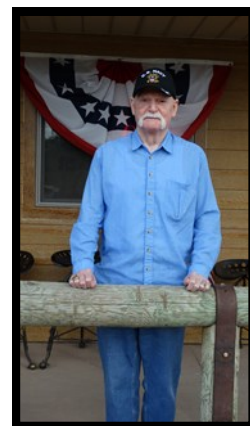

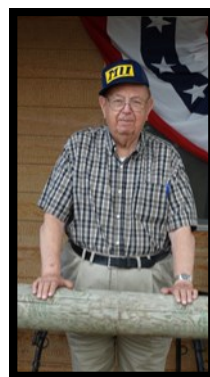

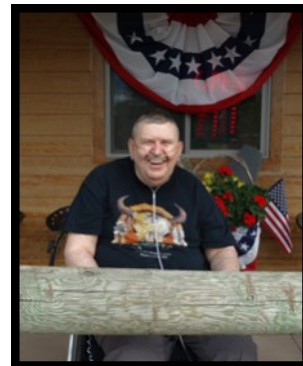

This weekend is their (McLeod) biggy. Many activities. Meals. A four hour bingo game. The main event is a trail ride that I am told involved over 400 horses last year.

But, the main reason for me to go is for the "scenic bus ride". Brenda just goes cross country, on gravel mostly. The crops look terrific; the corn is so high that from the height of the bus windows you just see over the tops. Wheat looks ready for harvest. Indeed two farmers were in the field. Really looked good. It's just a fun thing to do.

Garden Party

Thank you Laurie Stenson for hosting a Garden Party at your home in Enderlin for the 2nd year in a row! As you can see, all had a fabulous afternoon.

ENTERTAINMENT

Resident Elroy Mogck was instrumental in starting the Jamestown Chorales 59 years ago. What a joy it was to watch him perform with the group he created as they put on a concert at the North Dakota Veterans Home.

The Trailblazers performed a variety of songs.

Irene and Arnie, entertainment at its best.

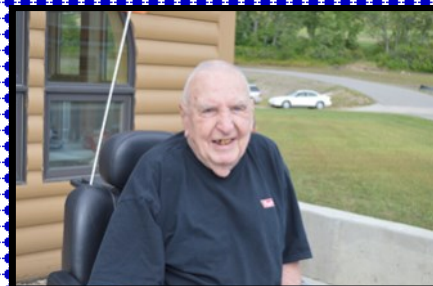

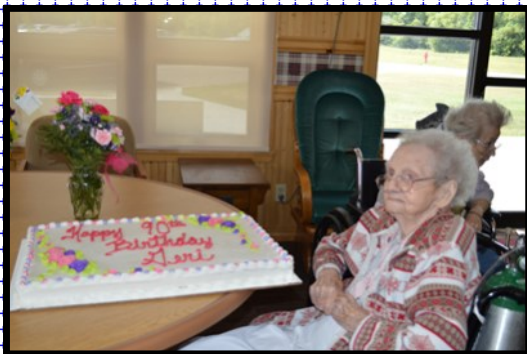

The Ambassadors from AFLBS, The Association Free Lutheran Bible School in Minneapolis performed in July. They are pictured with Pastor Dennis Norby.

The Gazebo is open for Business

Resident Geri McMahon celebrated her 90th birthday in the Gazebo. Several family members, friends and fellow residents joined Geri for the celebration. The gazebo is available for groups to use for meetings and special events. Thank you to all who have given towards the Gazebo project.

To reserve the Gazebo contact Margi at 701-683-6502

To top off the 90th birthday celebration, Geri's great grandchild was baptized at the Veterans Home

Relay for Life: M*A*S*H Style

Lead by captains Tracy Harland and Robin Bratile the North Dakota Veterans Home M*A*S*H* Team raised over $6000.00 for the American Cancer Society. Team members held bake sales, served hot lunch with homemade soup and buns as well as coordinated a variety of other events. Resident Frenchy Lajesse made numerous necklaces, bracelets, key chains, and lanyards which he sold to raise over $3000.00. The Relay for Life event took place on Friday, June 7th at the Lisbon Expo Center. The NDVH MASH team won the coveted Spirit Award and was within the top 10 individual fundraising teams for the entire region. Way to go!!!!

2012 Employee of the Year Dawn Lemieux

Dawn Lemieux was nominated by the residents and staff of North Dakota Veterans Home to be recognized as Employee of the Year at the 2013 State D.A.V. convention. She was born in Breckenridge, MN, and raised in the cities of Breckenridge, Fargo and Lisbon. Dawn joined the North Dakota Veterans Home team in 2001 as a Licensed Practical Nurse. She is married to Duane, mother of two children, Travis and Ben, and she loves playing with her grandchildren.

Dawn has been willing to step in and accept responsibility for any task or project she has been asked to complete, no matter how big or small. While the Clinical Care Partner was on medical leave, she took over completion of weekly care plans, assisting with doctor rounds, admission of new residents, and anything else that was asked of her. When Dawn starts a task, she doesn't just "pass it on" in report, she sees it through to completion and follows up on any questions that were left unanswered. There is no question of whether something will be taken care of when Dawn is working. Her supervisor states "I never need to follow behind her and make sure that she's completed her work or documented it properly. She keeps me informed of any new concerns, questions that have come up, and problems that have been resolved; yet, works with no need for supervision. Her calls are always just an FYI, not an attempt to pass her work on to someone else."

Most recently, Dawn has stepped in and taken over the responsibility of doctor rounds on a routine basis. In only two weeks, she completely changed the manner in which these are conducted, making the whole process much more efficient, to include the referral of residents for specialty care which has commonly been a problem in the past.

Dawn has never asked to be relieved of her other extra duties no matter how much additional work was asked of her. She continues to work with Infection Control and this too, is something she takes very seriously.

Dawn comes to work every day with a positive attitude and willingness to take on any challenge. If she has any complaints or concerns, she will share them with the appropriate supervisor, but never with other staff or residents. Her work is ALWAYS completed in a thorough and efficient manner, demonstrating excellent time management skills, and she gives direction appropriately to CMT's and RLS's to ensure appropriate use of their time as well.

Dawn demonstrates excellent decision making and critical thinking skills within her scope of practice, always keeping members of the care team involved in changes necessary to the plan of care. She shows great respect for all residents and other staff by treating everyone the way she would like to see herself or her own family treated.

Dawn has demonstrated a huge amount of personal and professional growth since moving to the new building. She is now seeing change as an opportunity for learning and improvement in the care we provide and is eager to take on those challenges.
